Project Description: Sustainability Strategies for Business

AquAeTer was retained by an industry group to support their efforts in developing a Sustainability Strategy. The intent of the initiative was to enhance the future of the industry by the promotion and education of the sustainable production, use, and reuse of the industry's products. The sustainability program focused on three aspects of sustainability; including environmental, social, and economical. All three aspects are important to the industry and the production of the product was represented by the overlap of the three aspects.

The world is increasingly sensitive to issues of sustainability. Sustainable strategies are an important part of any business or industry's practices. AquAeTer can assist clients in developing sustainability strategies that demonstrate their focus on the convergence of economic, social and environmental aspects.
